January 13, 2023

I think we all had a great week getting into the swing of things and are excited to have a day off on Monday already. We are getting ready for a busy spring. The high school will come speak to us about freshman classes in February and then they will register for high school the following week. I will let you know what day that is and you, the parents can come in also if you would like to. We are also planning our field trip to St. Louis. I will be looking for a male chaperone, if anyone is interested let me know and I will include you in my planning. It will be an overnight trip.

Other things that will be coming up are Confirmation on April 29, and graduation, which isn't planned yet due to possible winter weather. Please let me know what day of the week will work best for your family, and I will do my best to accommodate your schedules.
