Weekly Round Up

We're having a Chicka Chicka Boom Boom kind of week in Pre-K! As we continue settling into our classroom routines and getting to know our new friends, we'll be learning through one of our favorite book families. We'll be practicing letters and numbers, working on writing and spelling our names, and enjoying some of our favorite stories featuring the coconut tree and its colorful cast of letters.

Our virtue this month is self control. We are talking about what self control looks and sounds like in the classroom and practicing ways we can use it throughout our day like waiting our turn, listening to our friends, keeping our bodies calm, and making good choices.

We are also excited to meet our new fifth grade buddies this week! We can't wait to get to know our buddies and enjoy some special time together.
