Weekly Round Up

This week we learned all about different careers and talked about what we want to be when we grow up. Firefighters Elijah Hadra and Bobby Clark came to visit and brought two firetrucks for us to check out! We also did lots of fun career themed activities this week including the mailbox letter game and investigating our own handprints!

For phonics this week, we worked on letter Gg and its sound, /g/ like goat. We worked on letter recognition and handwriting. In math, we reviewed our numbers, how to write them and counting, as well as shapes.

We also introduced our virtue of the month, patience! We talked about how patience, self–control and kindness work together as a team. We practiced waiting our turn to speak while we passed around a talking piece.

Be on the lookout for parent/teacher conference forms, as they will be coming soon. Remember, conferences are optional, not required. I will be sending home progress notes for each child as well.
