Weekly Round Up

Our theme this week was bats! We did lots of fun activities like an alpha—BAT matching game, batty numbers and colors, and even made our own bats out of coffee filters and clothespins! We also practiced our fine motor skills by cutting out bat shapes and dot painting bats. We read some silly books about bats and learned that they are nocturnal creatures meaning they are most active at night.

This week we learned about the letter H! We practiced letter recognition with dot markers, built letter H with stickers and talked about objects that start with the /h/ sound. We also reviewed numbers 1—5 this week with counting, handwriting, and number recognition.

We got to spend some time with our fifth grade buddies and they surprised us with some fun Halloween color by number pages that we got to do with them. It was a great way to practice our colors and numbers as well as build friendships!
